

ABSTRACT

PICA probe system methods and apparatus are described, including methods and apparatus for calibrating an event timer having a coarse measurement capability in which time intervals defined by clock boundaries are counted and a fine measurement capability in which time between boundaries is interpolated using a voltage ramp.